KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Cash useful: Most restaurants and smaller museums in Brandenburg accept cash; carry some euros for entry fees and the Slavic Village.
- Rent a bike: The city's lake and river paths are best explored by bike — rentals are available near the town centre.
- Cathedral entry is free (donations welcome); the museum inside the monastery has a modest admission fee.
- Guided tours are excellent: The 1-hour guided walks from Fontane Klub (May–Sep) are well-priced and cover all three historic centres efficiently.
- Weather: Brandenburg's climate is relatively dry for Germany — but pack a light layer, as Havel breezes can be cool on the water.
- Boat tours fill up: Havel round-trip boats are popular with day visitors — buy tickets at the Salzhofufer landing early in your call.
