KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Mussel season matters: mussels are in season July through April. If your call falls outside this window, expect limited availability at restaurants.
- Rent a bike: Bruinisse's flat polder terrain and dedicated cycling paths make a bike the best way to explore the Delta Works and surrounding landscape in a few hours.
- Cards widely accepted: most restaurants and shops in Zeeland accept credit/debit cards, but carry a few euros for small market stalls.
- Small village, short call: Bruinisse itself takes about an hour to see on foot. Plan to fill your day with a day trip to the Brouwersdam, Flood Museum, or a water sports session.
- Zeeland weather: the coast is breezy and weather changes fast. Bring a light waterproof layer even in summer.
- No large terminal: there are no formal cruise facilities here — this is an intimate call with no tour-desk or port agent on the quay. Arrange excursions in advance with your ship.
