KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Small-ship port: Brunswick is not a mainstream large cruise port — it's primarily called by American Cruise Lines and similar small-ship operators. Infrastructure is modest but downtown is charming.
- Island access by taxi: The Golden Isles (St. Simons, Jekyll) require a short taxi or Uber ride. Confirm ride availability before heading out on your own.
- Bring bug spray: Coastal Georgia marshes mean mosquitoes and no-see-ums, especially in warmer months. Insect repellent is essential for outdoor activities.
- Hot and humid summers: June through September is very hot and muggy. Stay hydrated, wear light clothing, and plan strenuous activities for the morning.
- US dollars only: No currency exchange needed — you're in the USA. Cards are accepted nearly everywhere, including on the islands.
- Try local shrimp: Brunswick is in the heart of Georgia's shrimping country. Fresh Georgia shrimp at local restaurants is a genuine regional treat — don't skip it.
