KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Pick up your tender ticket early. On busy summer days the tender queue can delay going ashore by 30-60 minutes. Get your ticket at open and head out with the first wave.
- The train is your best friend. Cannes station is 10 minutes' walk from the port and connects to Antibes, Nice, and Monaco cheaply and quickly — far easier than taxis on Riviera roads.
- Euros only. Withdraw cash before or use ATMs near the Vieux Port; many small cafés and the market stalls prefer cash.
- Public beaches are free. Plage du Midi (west of the port) is the best free sandy beach. The glam private beach clubs on La Croisette charge €25-50 for a lounge.
- Allow extra time for the last tender. The last tender back is usually 30-45 minutes before all-aboard. Miss it and you're responsible for catching the ship at the next port.
- Peak summer is crowded and hot. July-August brings thick crowds on La Croisette. Aim for early morning ashore; retreat to the islands or a beach club at midday.
