TOP THINGS TO DO

- Scavi di Stabia — Free Roman Villas — Villa Arianna and Villa San Marco are lavishly frescoed Roman resort villas buried by Vesuvius in 79 AD.
- Mount Fauto by Cable Car — The funivia (cable car) climbs from the town center to the forested summit of Monte Fauto at 1,100 m, rewarding you with sweeping views across the...
- Pompeii Day Trip — Castellammare di Stabia is one stop from Pompeii on the Circumvesuviana train — a 15-minute ride puts you at the UNESCO World Heritage excavations...
- Terme Stabiane Thermal Baths — Castellammare's mineral springs have been bottled since Roman times.
- Capri Ferry Day Trip — Fast ferries to Capri depart year-round from the port, making it one of the closer embarkation points for the island.

BEST WALKS

- Lungomare & Historic Center Stroll 2 km · 45 min · Easy · Flat — Walk north from the port along the Lungomare waterfront to Villa Comunale (public gardens with the 1900 Cassa Armonica bandstand), then into the town center to Piazza...
- Cable Car to Monte Fauto Summit Funivia ride · 2-3 hrs round trip · Easy (cable car) · Best Apr–Oct — From the funivia station near Piazza Vittorio Veneto, the cable car lifts you to Monte Fauto's forest plateau in about 15 minutes.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Scavi di Stabia is free. Villa Arianna and Villa San Marco charge no admission — rare for a site this impressive. Go early; there's no crowd control as at Pompeii.
- Use the Circumvesuviana. Pompeii Scavi station is one stop away. Buy a round-trip ticket (a few euros) at the station near the port. Far cheaper than a tour bus.
- Book Capri ferries in advance in summer. Day-trip demand peaks June–August; ferries sell out. The crossing takes roughly 45 minutes.
- Funivia season is April–October. The Mount Fauto cable car closes in winter and may close on windy days. Check locally on arrival.
- Taste the mineral water. The Acqua della Madonna spring near the old port is free to taste and a genuine local ritual — naturally effervescent and refreshing.
- Heat in summer. July and August see temperatures above 30 °C. Start excursions early, carry water, and save the Lungomare stroll for the cooler early evening.
