KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Pre-book transport: The Eagle Road and Geirangerfjord are the main draws but require a vehicle or tour. Public buses are infrequent — book ship excursions or arrange a local driver before your cruise.
- Go cashless: Norway is almost entirely card-based. Even the ferry quay kiosk takes contactless payment — no need to carry Norwegian Krone.
- Layer up: Fjord valley weather changes fast. Pack a windproof/waterproof jacket even on sunny mornings.
- Eagle Bend viewpoint: The classic Geirangerfjord panorama — Seven Sisters waterfall included — is at the top of the Eagle Road. Don't skip it for early tender slots.
- Local goat cheese: The Eidsdal valley is renowned for its goat farming. If a local stall is set up near the quay, the brown cheese and Snøfrisk are worth trying.
- Take the local ferry: A foot-passenger ticket on the Eidsdal–Linge ferry costs very little and gets you out onto the fjord mid-crossing for excellent photos.
