KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Tender discipline matters: Long Island calls are popular in summer. Get your tender ticket early — lines build quickly when the ship fills the morning schedule.
- Ride-shares work well here: Uber and Lyft operate across the East End. Pre-book a return ride if heading to the Hamptons — don't rely on hailing one from the beach in peak season.
- Cash rarely needed: Every shop, winery, and restaurant accepts cards. A small amount of USD is handy for tips or the carousel.
- Winery reservations help: Several North Fork tasting rooms now require reservations, especially on summer weekends. Book ahead via OpenTable or the winery's website.
- Summer is peak — and hot: July–August calls mean crowds, full beaches, and 85°F+ temperatures. Wear sunscreen and hydrate; shade is limited on the beaches.
- Beach parking fees: If a tour operator drops you at a Hamptons beach, note that non-resident parking fees are high — but as a cruiser on foot, you just pay the beach entry (typically $10-20 in season).
