TOP THINGS TO DO

- Hinterhaus Castle Ruins — The 12th-century Hinterhaus fortress looms above the village and is completely free to enter.
- Wachau Wine Tasting at a Heuriger — Look for a pine branch (Buschen) over the door — that's the sign a Heuriger is open.
- Danube Cycle Path to Dürnstein — Hop on a bicycle and follow the flat, paved Donauradweg from Spitz roughly 10 km to picture-perfect Dürnstein (blue church tower, Richard the...)
- Rotes Tor (Red Gate) Viewpoint — The last standing medieval town gate offers one of the most-photographed views in Spitz — a sweep of vineyard terraces, river, and rooftops.
- Schiffahrtsmuseum (Danube Maritime Museum) — Housed in the baroque Erlahof castle, this museum chronicles centuries of wooden shipbuilding and river trade on the Danube.

BEST WALKS

- Town Center & St. Mauritius Church Loop 30–45 min · Flat · Free — From the pier, walk to Kirchenplatz and step inside St.
- Rotes Tor & Hinterhaus Castle Ruins 1.5–2 hrs · Moderate uphill · Free — From the church, climb the vineyard lanes toward the Rotes Tor gate for panoramic views, then continue up to the Hinterhaus castle ruins.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Carry cash. Many Heurigen and small wine producers don't accept cards. An ATM is in the village center.
- Wine vocabulary to know: Smaragd = full-bodied top tier; Federspiel = classic everyday; Steinfeder = light and fresh. All are excellent in the Wachau.
- Try Marillenknödel (apricot dumplings) at any café or Heuriger — the local Wachau Marille apricots are famous across Austria and the season peaks in July.
- Wear sturdy shoes. The town is cobblestoned and the castle ruins trail is gravel/dirt with a genuine uphill. Heels are a bad idea.
- Bikes are the best way to explore. Many river cruise ships have bikes on board — ask your cruise director. The Danube cycle path is flat and paved all the way to Dürnstein and Krems.
- Sunday closures apply to shops and grocery stores, but restaurants, Heurigen, and wineries stay open for visitors — so you won't go hungry or thirsty.
